A London Mob. An enormous crowd, estimated to number from pain, cures dysentery and 50,000 persons, gathered in the vicinity of Trafalgar Square, London, yesterday, despite the warning of Sir Charles Wargen, commissioner of police, that no meeting in the square would be permitted. Most of those who came intended to take part in the anti-coercion meeting called by the radical clubs and leaders, but a large number of socialists and turbulent spirits of all kind AGUE; also as a tonic for strengthening and inwere also drawn to the spot. The crowd jammed all the approaches to the square, and finally pressed so hard against the quadthree bottles for $1.25. ruple corden of police who surrounded the open space and became so threatening and demonstrative that orders were given the police to drive them back. These orders were carried out with great severity. The police were merciless, apparently believing that if they did not succeed in dispersing that if they did not succeed in dispersion the did not succeed in dispers demonstrative that orders were given the police to drive them back. The passage to and fro of whicles in the vicinity did not cease during the whole day, and this increased the work of the police. Had the square been entirely also at these would have been an difficulty closed there would have been no difficulty whatever, but the continual traffic enabled the crowds to form here and there without ceasing. At 4:15 o'clock lond obsers heralded the arrival of a cavairy force, with Col. Taibot at its head, from Whitehall, and Magistrate Marsham prepared to read the riot act, in case such warning should become necessary. But the crowd became goodhumored, in marked contrast with their demesnor on the arrival of the mounted po-Wholesale and Retail Dearch.

A second circuit of the square by the guards elicited opposition from a mob of roughs in the crowd, who shouted, "Britonsshall not be ruled by lead and bayonets." Three groans were given for the home secretary. The guards patroled the square several times, and then turned into the adjacent streets. They suction the complete stock of the co thinning out the crowd. At 5 o'clock the grenadiers wheeled into the square, with bayonets fixed and with twenty rounds of ball cartridges in their pouches. They were accompanied by an ambulance. They halted in front of the National Gallery, and pened into lines. The mob was thus caught with their rifles on the toes of the crowd. Boxing the ears of the turbulent roughs with vigor seemed to delight the policemen. The crowd now hooted the military with an energy equal to that which they cheered them before. Soon after 5 o'clock the po-IF YOU CANNOT SEE and cannot find any SPECTACLES to suit you, go to HENRY WILD'TS and have your eyes tested, and you nov20 will have no more trouble. lice made a series of violent charges with During one charge the whole window of an electrical shop fell with a crash. The crowd asserted that the window was broken by the hoofs of some of the policemen's horses. The police, however, assert that bricks were thrown at the window. The leafers made for the contents of the window, but the police captured many articles and arrested the thieves. A minute later the window of a refreshment room was smashed in by the pressure of the crowd. There were one or two similar cases in the course of the charges, but by 6 o'clock there was no fear of further trouble. At 6:30 the whote force of Life Guards patroled the square, and finally they dispersed completely Some police, which alternately relieved each other in order to obtain much needed refreshment
